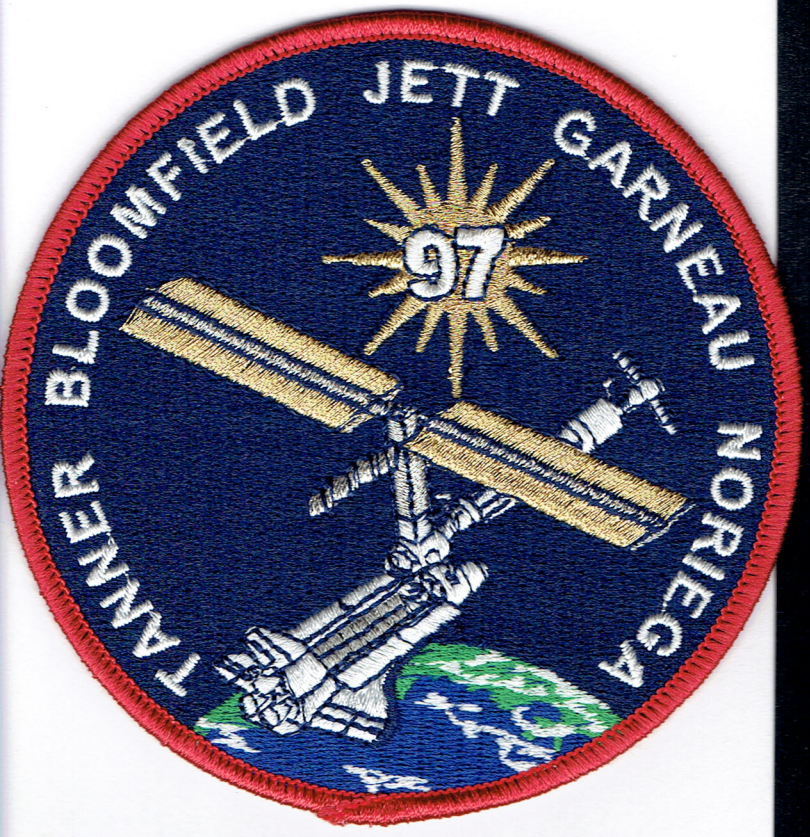
Marc Garneau's third space flight aboard STS-97, on December 1st, 2000 was his last mission. He was a Mission Specialist again on this flight. On this mission patch are the names of his five crew members (Brent Jett, Michael Bloomfield, Joseph Tanner, Carlos Noriega and Garneau). This patch is the same worn on Garneau's official CSA portrait on the cover page of this exhibit.



On October 1st, 2003, a pane of eight commemorative self-adhesive stamps were issued to celebrate the achievements of all the "Canadian Astronauts" who had been to outer space. In order of their space exploits, they are Marc Garneau, Roberta Bondar, Steve MacLean, Chris Hadfield, Robert Thirsk, Bjarni Tryggvason, Dave Williams and Julie Payette.

The image of the "Canadarm", on the bottom of this sheet of mint stamps, was taken by Chris Hadfield. (He told me this when he autographed it.). The stamp design combines a coloured foreground image of each astronaut in an official CSA portrait and the background images are black and white images from a respective NASA mission.
