ROYAL 89

Royal 89 is now history. By all accounts it was an excellent show. Vernon March and his organizing committee and other members of the host Hamilton Philatelic Society are to be commended and thanked for their efforts in putting together a memorable event.

Next year, it's Regina's turn to play host to the annual convention and show of the Royal Philatelic Society of Canada. To be held in the Saskatchewan capital's Ramada Renaissance convention centre, RPSC members can expect some fine western hospitality as well as an excellent show, bourse and convention. Preliminary information can be obtained by contacting Dr. Fran Rummens, 94 Munro Place, Regina, Sask. S4S 4P7.

OUR MISTAKE

In the March-April issue of The Canadian Philatelist, we erroneously indicated that prior to the Winnipeg convention and bylaw changes approved there, RPSC directors were elected for two-year terms. In fact, all terms were for one year. Starting with the directors elected at Royal 89, all terms are now two years with half the directors' terms expiring in any one year. At Winnipeg in 1988, a draw determined which directors would serve for one year and which directors would serve the first two-year terms.

DIRECTORS ELECTED

Royal 89 saw eight directors elected with terms to expire in 1991. Re-elected were Senator Henry D. Hicks of Halifax, N.S., a Fellow of the RPSC, Samuel J. Horton of North Vancouver, B.C., James E. Kraemer of Ottawa, Ont., the Royal's president and also a Fellow of the Society, Bernard Lavallee of Montreal, Que., Arthur W. Leggett of Weston, Ont., a Fellow of the Society, Michael Millar of Barrie, Ont., a Fellow of the Society, and Harry Sutherland of Toronto, Ont., a Fellow of the Society.

The new face among the directors is Keith R. Baldwin of Renforth, N.B. He replaces Frank Feero of St. John, N.B. who retired. Our congratulations to all and a wish of continued success in serving the Royal and its members.

NEW FELLOWS

Dr. Norman Boyd, senior Fellow of the RPSC, announced at Royal 89 the election of two new Fellows — David Dixon of Oakville, Ont., the Royal's long-serving treasurer, and Ralph Mitchener of Ottawa, Ont., the Society's historian. Both are well-known collectors and Mr. Mitchener also authors a stamp column in the Ottawa Journal.

Fellows are selected only by those who are already Fellows of the RPSC. The honour is reserved for a select few who have distinguished themselves through their service to the Society and to the hobby in general. It is rare that more than one or two Fellowships are awarded in any one year.

FELLOW PASSES

John F. Ayre, F.R.P.S.C. of St. John's Nfld. a longtime member of the Royal and a distinguished stamp collector, died Dec. 14, 1988. As a collector, he won many international gold and vermeil medals for his British West Indies, Canada and St. Helena exhibits. He was also a director of the Society from 1975 to 1981 and was elected a Fellow in 1979. His wife Mary passed away in January 1988.

Our condolences to his family and many friends.

GOLDEN SCROLL

In the January-February editio, tribute was paid to 15 longtime members of the Society, all of whom had been members since at least 1945. In the listing of Golden Scroll members, one such member was overlooked in the check of membership numbers — John Barchino of Brantford, Ont., RPSC No. 3472L.

If there are any other members who have membership numbers of 3610 or lower who were not included on the Golden Scroll list, please let us know as we would like to pay tribute to you, too for your long-standing support of the Society and stamp collecting.

James E. Kraemer, F.R.P.S.C., receives the 1988 Geldert Medal from Mrs. G.M. Geldert, widow of the former Royal president for whom the award is named. The medal is awarded to the author whose article(s) in The Canadian Philatelist are adjudged best during a calendar year.

PUBLIC RELATIONS

A new officer for the Society was appointed at Royal 89. Named as manager — public affairs is George W. Vandenberg of Ajax, Ont. He will help promote the Society and stamp collecting.

NEW SCOTT CATALOGUE

As many members are no doubt aware, Scott publishing created a major stir, especially in the U.S., with its general catalogues last year.

The controversy was created when the 'bible', for North American collectors, of catalogues changed its pricing policy in an attempt to more accurately reflect current prices of dealers and auctions rather than print what for years seemed to be arbitrarily high or, in some cases, outlandish prices that bore little resemblance to what specific stamps were being bought and sold for in the marketplace.

The change in pricing policy brought howls of protest from some dealers and collectors who suddenly saw the 'listed' value of their stamp stocks or collections plunge dramatically.

The new Scott Specialized Catalogue of Canadian Stamps — 1989 edition is now out and it too has attempted to price the stamps of Canada and provinces to more accurately reflect actual market values.

The catalogue, published by The Unitrade Press of Toronto which owns the rights to the widely-used Scott numbering system and the Scott catalogue name in Canada, has many price changes, most of them lower, especially among earlier issues. The Jubilees of 1897 for example, are generally lower by 20 per cent and much more, most apparent in the $2-$5 mint copies.

Even more noticeable, at quick glance, is the spread in both mint and used price listings between very fine, fine and very good gradings among earlier issues.

There's no doubt the pricing spread in the grades do much more accurately reflect what is happening in the marketplace than previous Scott Canada catalogues.

How accurate are the new prices prepared with the help of Canada's best-known dealers and specialists?

That'll be up to collectors and dealers to judge eventually through the marketplace. But given lower prices for many popular Canadian stamps and the emphasis on pricing linked to quality (and rarity of quality with some issues), it's bound to cause some controversy.

We ask members and member-dealers to write to tell us their opinions.

QUALITY SELLS HIGH

The May 17-18 auction of the John Siverts collections of Canada and provinces by R. Maresh and Sons of Toronto continued to emphasize the strong market for fine material.

Many lots sold at several times estimate and catalogue value.

A few examples included a superb used sheet margin copy of the one penny of Nova Scotia which fetched $2600, more than 10 times the 1989 catalogue value of $250.

A Newfoundland 6 1/2 pence (Scott No. 7, catalogued at $2100) brought $3500. A very fine copy of Scott No. 30 (catalogue $60) on a cover sold for $2100.

A used 1/2 cent Large Queen of Canada on soft white paper brought $2700 versus the catalogue price of $50 for a normal one in fine condition.

Small Queen materials also fetched solid prices and postal history items often went at many times estimate.

POSTAL ARCHIVES

The March-April edition of The Archivist, a bimonthly publication of the National Archives of Canada, contains an article outlining progress of the new Canadian Postal Archives.

The article notes that on April 1, historical items formerly in the National Postal Museum were transferred by Canada Post to the National Archives, specifically its Canadian Postal Archives (CPA).

The CPA operates as part of the Documentary Art and Photography Division and its creation "has been a significant step towards centralizing the service and facilities provided by this philatelic research centre."

The CPA has as objectives collection, acquisition and cataloguing coupled with "optimum care and custody of its philatelic and related records."

The CPA will include in its collection items of original art from the Postage stamp program and postal communications, philatelic materials such as stamps and essays, die proofs, stationery, covers and the like, and make them as well as its philatelic library collection available to collectors and researchers.

The CPA will provide reference services by mail or in person and specific periodicals and books can be obtained on loan through the inter-institutional loan process.

Reference and library requests should be addressed to the Reference Librarian. A brochure on services is also available on request.

Reference services are available 10 a.m. — 5 p.m. Tuesday through Friday and Saturday 9 a.m. — 5 p.m. at the CPA, 365 Laurier Ave. West, Ottawa.

Requests for reference services or book loans should be sent to the Reference Librarian, The Philatelic Library, 365 Laurier Ave. West, Ottawa, Ont. K1S 0N3; telephone (613) 995-8085.

DEALERS IN RARE STAMPS SINCE 1924

Canada Post New Issues

Canada Post issued two new high-value definitives May 5, the first of a series depicting architectural landmarks that will replace the long-running national parks series.

Featured on the $1 value is Toronto's Runnymede Public Library, built in 1929-30 in a modified 'Moderne' style and designed by John M. Lyle (1872-1945). Lyle's design for the interior and exterior draw on French Canadian and West Coast Indian motifs. The library, on Bloor Street West, is still in use.

The $2 value features the McAdam, N.B. Railway Station built in 1899 for the Canadian Pacific Railway and a fine example of the Chateau-style of architecture once in use for stations and hotels across the country. The McAdam station was designed by Edward Maxwell (1867-1923), a Montreal architect. The elaborate building has steeply pitched roofs and dormer windows overhanging stone walls. Of the many Chateau-style stations designed by Maxwell, McAdam is the only one that is still used as a railway station.

Both stamps were designed by Raymond Bellemare of Montreal. He used a linear design of each building and produced the final version on a computer. The stamps, with a shaded bright blue background for the $1 value and a shaded orange background for the $2 value, are printed in six-colour lithography and one colour steel engraving by BA Bank Note, Canada.

The brightly colored backgrounds are a major departure from the muted tones used in the national park series (with the possible exception of the $1.50 Waterton). While we would assume most Canadian collectors know where Toronto is (and many, especially in southern Ontario, may even be familiar with the Runnymede library), the McAdam stamp sent us running for our atlas since there's no hint of even the province in the stamp design. McAdam is about 40 miles southwest of Fredericton, near the Maine-New Brunswick border.

Given the wealth of unique architectural designs in Canada, there'll be no shortage of potential subjects for the new high-value definitive series. But just seven of Canada's 31 national parks were featured in the parks series.

MORE ON GREELY

I enjoyed Jim Kraemer's article of Greely Post Office. I have a personal interest in that area as my great-grandmother lived most of her life exactly in what later became Greely.

Perhaps I can share some data with those interested. My great-grandfather with his family came up the St. Lawrence by barge to Prescott in 1847, purchased oxen and a wagon and drove to Bytown, Almost certainly through what is now Greely. This proves there was a road connecting Prescott and is strong evidence that Greely area was settled via Prescott, not via Cornwall.

My great-grandmother remarried John Lee who in 1837 had purchased Lot 6, Concession 5 (200 acres) in Osgoode township which is one lot south of the lot Jim Kraemer describes. This lot is now centrally located in modern Greely.

The Enumeration Census of 1861 and 1871 show both John Lee and his family were living there. Lee died in 1874 and his farm was sold to John Dunlap. Jim relates that a Mary Dunlap later became postmistress and that Lot 6, Concession 5 was the site of a later post office.

An interesting sidelight: In 1857, Lee sold 3800 square feet to the Trustees of School Section #3. It may have been on this land that Thomas Greely built his "log shanty" but no mention is made of his name in property records.

THANKS FROM ORAPEX

Please convey to the members of the R.P.S.C. and to the members of the Board of Directors of the Royal Philatelic Society of Canada our appreciation and thanks for accrediting our show at the National Level. We hope that we were able to demonstrate that we can hold a National show successfully.

Once again thank you, you have helped make our First National Exhibition a great success.

GAUGING GAUGES

I read with interest Hans Reiche's notes on the Instanta gauge and point out that the older versions of this gauge are usually out in their measurements. If the plastic is white (as opposed to yellowish) the gauge will probably be in order.

STAMP DISASTER

It seems a pity that what could have been an interesting stamp should have the detail reduced to being almost undistinguishable and on top of that being squeezed by a hideous shade of orange! Obviously the Canada Post does not know how to handle the subject of architecture. Unfortunately they must have run out of type when they assume everyone in Canada knows where McAdam is. Could not "New Brunswick" have been added to the inscription?

The library barely passes inspection. In both cases the original drawings may have been "seeable" but when reduced to the size of a stamp, one is forced to using a reading glass to find out what it's all about!

The same subject matter has been illustrated by many countries with success where we are presented with an understandable design sitting in the surroundings where we would expect to find it.

Having stayed at the hotel in McAdam many years ago and remembering the ambiance of C.P.R. comfort, I was most disappointed to see this particular subject presented in such a miserable way.

CALL THEM 'REPOS'

Recently Canada Post has introduced a new type of postmark bearing an old type of initials, specifically RPO. The new postmarks with RPO in them indicate a Retail Postal Outlet. For many decades, of course, philatelist have collected RPOs from railroad post offices.

Since the old RPOs are extinct, Canada Post has no concern over any possible confusion that might arise with the new RPOs. For postal historians, it is equally unlikely that a new RPO would be mistaken for an old RPO.

In day-to-day conversation, a group of collectors talking over matters such as these might run into a bit of difficulty. I would like to suggest that postmarks from Retail Postal Outlets be known as REPOs (pronounced 'reap-oh'), so as to separate them from the original RPOs. This would not only make conversation clearer but also ease life for indexers of philatelic literature.

REPOs are part of an effort by Canada Post to privatize most of its branches, thereby improving service and reducing costs. As a result, postal historians will be scrambling to keep up with all the changes over the next decade. For those who collect Canada postal history, this field would be an excellent opportunity to jump in and collect while there is still time to get the early material at reasonable cost. REPOs will be the squared-circles of the future.

THANKS FROM ROYAL '89

Dear Members of the Royal Philatelic Society:

Royal '89 was a very successful convention. The show was of national scope and required many forms of assistance. The organizing committee would like to express their thanks for your support in this endeavour. Show visitors left Hamilton with a pleasant experience to remember for quite some time.

Thanks again for helping Royal '89 to be a notable event.

Vern March

Chairman Royal '89

THE SOURCE

Larry McInnis (Letters to the Editor, May-June 1989) is certainly correct that it was he who first publicized the account of the Peterborough paper used for Canadian stamps.

The article that appeared in the Winnipeg Philatelic Society bulletin, The Buffalo (Oct. 1988), was extracted from the Linn's article prepared by Larry. Many of the news items found in the Odds & Ends section of The Buffalo are gathered from other sources, including Linn's, as was the case in this instance.

The interpretation in the Canadian Philatelist (Jan.-Feb. 1989) was incorrect in stating that the "Buffalo uncovered an important bit of news" and that "Canada Post is to resume printing stamps on a Canadian-made paper", as was pointed out by Larry.

I would like to apologize to Larry for any inconvenience this news item in The Buffalo may have caused him.

IN THE DUMP

I recently attended the Royal show in Hamilton and picked up a copy of your May-June 1988 issue of your RPSC journal and read with interest the various comments on the Seaway misprint.

When I was in grade 7 (circa 1964) I started a stamp collection. The content was made up of stamps that appealed to me and I was not very serious about it then. I did not even have a Scott catalogue or similar book to help me identify my collection. The album I had had black and white illustrations in it of the stamps and against that I tried to fill my collection.

Fortunately, and I do not know how I came to have it, the collection included a Seaway misprint. At first it did not register that this was an error. I remember one day while reviewing my collection, I came to the page where I mounted the stamp and realized I had mounted it upside down. When I tried to correct it, it became obvious that the stamp was still "upside down". I thought it interesting and mounted it with the central image facing up. I do not remember if there was a cancellation but I can not be certain that it was a mint stamp either.

Many years later and after I had graduated high school I came across a Scott Catalogue and found the stamp listed for $5,000. Unfortunately, my mother, fearing my grades were not well, decided to remove many distractions to my grade 7 scholastic life, including disposing of the stamp collection. I know for sure that one Seaway misprint died in the Brantford garbage dump.

CONSERVATION STAMPS

I am writing to comment on the article by Mr. James Kraemer in the May/June issues of The Canadian Philatelist.

Wildlife Habitat Canada appreciates very much the exposure such articles provide. As the recipient of the revenue from the sales of the annual Wildlife Habitat Conservation Stamp, we count on the support of philatelists, who in turn make it possible for us to continue to invest in innovative programs and projects to conserve habitats for wildlife across Canada.

The funds generated from the sales of this revenue stamp to waterfowl hunters and to collectors, have a multiplier effect when used by Wildlife Habitat Canada. In effect our $15 million commitment to date is multiplied to over $100 million when coupled with the investments in conservation made by our many project partners. The contribution of stamp collectors to habitat conservation is an important and growing component of our funding.

As a partner with the Canadian Wildlife Service in the production and distribution of the Wildlife Habitat Conservation Stamp since its introduction on Aug. 1, 1985, we are still improving the handling of some aspects deemed important by the philatelic community. However, I hope your readers agree that we have come a long way in ensuring this product is a bona fide collectible as well as a contributor to improving conditions for our wildlife.

ARTIFACT DEFINITIVES

As Joseph Monteiro pointed out in the May-June 89 issue of CP, collecting Heritage Artifacts and National Parks issues for their printings and papers is a rewarding experience. Inexpensive, too, but frustrating.

However, Mr. Monteiro's information is incomplete.

His listing for the 1-cent decoy is accurate, especially pointing out that the third printing was by Canadian Bank Note on Clark paper — with no inscription.

Try and find it. I've tracked down a block in the U.S.

There was one other issue in the series without inscription, and Mr. Monteiro didn't list it: It's the 10-cent weather cock, second printing. It was the first printing by Canadian Bank Note, on Jan. 30, 1985, after winning the contract from Ashton-Potter.

A-P's was perf 14 by 13.5, tagged two sides. CBN's was perf 13 x 13.5 also tagged two sides. It was on Clark paper.

Mr. Monteiro says the second printing was by CNB on Harrison paper, with no plate number. This is actually the third printing.

The CBN no-inscription issue is tagged two sides, while the CBN inscription issue — the third — is tagged four sides.

On the 2-cent spear issue, the second printing, by CBN, was Feb. 10, 1984 on Clark paper. The third printing, also by CBN, was Jan. 23, 1986, indicating Plate No. 2, was on Harrison paper, not Clark, as Mr. Monteiro listed.

For some reason, the 5-cent bucket stamp was listed next. Mr. Monteiro listed the third printing as CBN on Clark paper, plate No. 2. Canada Post announced this would be issued on Clark paper, but, in fact, it was issued on Harrison paper. CP corrected itself in a June 1985 announcement. This incorrect information about Clark paper was perpetuated in a Feb. 10, 1987, checklist in the Canadian Stamp News.

The other listings are accurate.

The different printings are not really hard to identify. But some are extremely hard to find.

INDIA SENDS THANKS

(Editor's Note: The following letter, from D.N. Jatia, vice-president of F.I.P. (Federation Internationale de Philatelie), was sent to James E. Kraemer, president of the R.P.S.C. The Philatelic Congress of India gave a substantial gift to CAPEX '87. Canada was unable to reciprocate for the recent India '89 exhibition but instead sent a gift to the India federation for use at its national exhibition.)

Dear Mr. Kraemer,

Your letter of April 6, 1989 has pleased me and the philatelists of India very much. We both take a serious view of our concerns towards our friendship.

We appreciate your gesture of forwarding a gift to be used at our next National exhibition and we assure you of our continued goodwill towards each other.

With best regards,

DEMANDES D'ECHANGE

La Royal Philatelic Society ne s'occupe pas normalement des échanges entre philatélistes, mais comme elle est la société philatélique nationale du Canada, on lui transmet de nombreuses demandes de philatélistes désireux de trouver des correspondants pour échanger des timbres. Ainsi a-t-elle décidé, pour rendre service à ses membres, de publier les noms des intéressés d'outre-mer, afin que ceux qui désirent établir des rapports avec eux puissent la faire. Je vous signale toutefois que nous ne savons rien des personnes qui nous demandent de publier leur nom, c'est pourquoi je vous conseille d'être prudent en répondant à ces demandes d'échange.

ORAPEX 89 (Ottawa)

The RA Stamp club, Royal Chapter 41 held its first accredited National exhibition April 28 to 29. Since a report has been sent to The Canadian Philatelist I will not give you details in this column. I do wish to say that credit for this very successful event goes to Charles W. Verge, chairman, and his hard working committee. The co-operation and assistance given to the RA Stamp club by the Ottawa Philatelic Society and Amicale des Philatelistes de l'Outaouais of Hull, Quebec went a long way to assuring the shows success. Plans for next year's National show in Ottawa are well advanced. The organizers say it will be bigger and better.

ROYAL 89 (Hamilton)

Again I will not elaborate since a report will be sent to the editor. Royal 89 was a super show, thanks to Vernon March, chairman, and his well organized committee. The assistance given by the 14 member clubs of the Grand River Valley Philatelic Association helped make Royal 89 an outstanding success. With members attending from all parts of Canada, from the Eastern U.S.A., Florida and across the U.S.A. to the west coast, I could not help but think that Royal 89 was like the memorable conventions we held 10 to 25 years ago. Congratulations Hamilton.

ROYAL 90 (Regina)

The friendship amongst philatelist evidenced at our Royal Conventions will be considerably enhanced by that well-known western hospitality centre in Saskatchewan. Dr. Frans H.A. Rummens and Ken W. Arndt, chairman and co-chairman respectively, have been working on plans for Royal 90 for more than a year. Plan now to visit Regina and the convention next June 8-10, 1990. Early accommodation reservations are recommended.

STAMPS FOR INVESTMENT

The Royal Philatelic Society of Canada promotes philately for educational, relaxation and hobby purposes. Stamp collecting is fun. Should you discover that your stamps have increased in value, stamp collecting becomes more fun. Increased value is only a by product of stamp collecting. To successfully invest one's savings in stamps would require more knowledge and expertise than most philatelists possess. Unfortunately as we discovered in the late 1970s and early 1980s, investment portfolios of stamps were marketed to naive individuals. Unfortunately, the promoters did not generally know the long-term implications and the investors, who were usually not philatelists, were both primarily interested in making a fast dollar. It makes sense that if thousands of investors set aside stamp portfolios for future gain and suddenly decide to liquidate their holdings the stamp market will crash. This happened about 5-10 years ago. The portfolios were liquidated at a fraction of their cost. The market place has since absorbed these stamps and over the past three or four years we have seen a steady increase in stamp prices every year. If popular classical stamps accumulated in recent years for investment portfolios have proven to be a disappointment to the owners when dumped indiscriminately on the market, it would seem that unpopular, less-known issues would be even more hazardous as an investment. It is fortunate that very few philatelists collect stamps as an investment. As a result the hobby may suffer a dent but it recovers rapidly.

When it comes to taking a stand on stamp collecting for investment purposes, the Royal Philatelic Society of Canada takes a neutral stance. We do recommend that you check out the credentials of those promoting stamps for investment purposes. Are they well-known philatelists who have been successful at philatelic exhibitions? Are the principals, members of the R.P.S.C., our national society?

YOU DON'T WANT TO MISS THIS OFFER

All last year I've been advertising a special lot of $100 mint face value Canada stamps (see boxed offer). About 1,000 were sold and it's something of a record as
NOT ONE LOT WAS RETURNED FOR REFUND!

No wonder. Anything from $2 to $10 of the face value is worth $100 alone. Sure there is duplication but I'll take back any not needed as credit towards any other purchases (except of course more $100 face value lots). This is for the benefit of those who live in the U.S.A. and would not be able to use up the duplicates easily.

1,000 more lots are ready for 1989.

$100.00 FACE VALUE CANADIAN STAMPS FOR $100.00

I do have a large surplus of various mint Canadian issues of the past 30 years or so. There are complete and incomplete plate sets, booklets, coils, sheets and part sheets, a large variety in singles. Also some surplus Canadian P.O. booklet assemblies (nothing after 1980). There are no postage dues. Everything can be used for postage on letters and parcels except for a few good OHMS-overprints.

But you will hardly use most of these for postage!

What I offer is a $100.00 face value parcel and I do guarantee that $10.00 or less face value in the parcel will retail for $100.00 alone. Plenty of others usually retail at double face or more, a great many will fit nicely into one's collection as all stamps are choice never hinged copies. There are no thinned, badly centered or damaged.

The price is $100.00 per parcel and in this instance send $5.00 extra for postage and registration. Fine stamps worth the $5.00 will be used for the postage and they will be cancelled neatly.

U.S.A. customers may remit $80.00 U.S. plus $5.00 for the postage for each $100.00 parcel. Orders to:

Fellows of the Society

Edward A. Richardson

by Beverlie Clark

Ed Richardson (No.6991), that wonderful Texan and one of the greatest promoters of Canadian postal history, was elected a Fellow of the Society in 1966.

Ed, a native of upstate New York, studied finance and economics at Cornell University in Ithaca, N.Y. and then spent 22 years with AGWAY, a huge farmers' co-operative. Ed then joined Texas City Refining Inc. where for the next 18 years, he was vice-president of finance. The Richardsons moved to Texas from New York in 1971 when Ed took early retirement. His devoted wife, Mickey, who attended all conventions with Ed, and exhibited at countless exhibitions, has been sadly missed by all since her demise in March 1985.

Described as the most prolific writer in the history of Canadian philately Ed began writing in the early 1940s and since that time has contributed hundreds of articles to about two dozen philatelic journals. Every article dealt with some aspect of Canadian philately. His best known series of articles was entitled The Hollow Tree which appeared from 1948 to 1958 in Popular Stamps magazine and from 1958 to 1969 in The Canadian Philatelist. A group of articles written for Covers magazine from 1956 to 1965 became the basis for his book published in 1978 entitled Collect Canada Covers. He authored The Canadian Flag Cancellation Handbook 1896-1973, published in 1974. This handbook won awards at both the Chicago Philatelic Exhibition in 1975 and at Interphil '76.

In 1967 Ed Richardson was named the first recipient of the coveted Geldert Medal for his articles in The Canadian Philatelist. This medal is awarded annually for philatelic authorship by the Royal Philatelic Society of Canada in memory of Dr. G.M. Geldert, a past president of the society.

An ardent exponent of philately, his philatelic endeavors have not stopped with literature. In 1940 he was the founder and first president of the New York Federation of Stamp Clubs. From 1947 to 1949 he was the second president of the British North America Philatelic Society, and served many years on that Society's Board of Governors. He is also a past president of the Texas Philatelic Association and organizer of the Texas Philatelic Association Foundation. In addition he served as a regional representative for CIPEX '47 and INTERPHIL '76, and was a member of the jury for CAPEX '78 - all world international exhibitions. Ed has judged more than a hundred local, regional and state shows in Canada and the U.S.A. over a 50-year period. His exhibits have won international awards since 1947.

Besides being awarded a Fellowship in the R.P.S.C. (1966), he became, in 1968, a member of the Order of The Beaver of the British North America Philatelic Society. Both these Fellowships are awarded to individuals who make a major contribution to philately. He was also the recipient, in 1979, of the Texas Philatelic Association's Distinguished Texas Philatelist award.

In addition to philately Ed was active in the Y.M.C.A., serving for nine years on the New York and National Councils. He worked also with the Boy Scouts of America for 55 years, receiving the Silver Beaver and the Silver Antelope awards for his dedicated service. Early in life he was offered positions in government if he ran for elective office. To the benefit of philately Ed declined and instead pursued a lifelong love-in with Canada and B.N.A. philately. Over the years he has assembled what is considered the largest and most comprehensive private library on B.N.A. and Canada.

Members of the Royal salute you Ed, and send congratulations on your 80th birthday celebrated this spring.

ORAPEX '89 A Success

by Charles J.G. Verge

ORAPEX '89, a nationally-accredited RPSC Show, was held April 28 - 30, 1989 at the R.A. Centre, Ottawa, Ont. ORAPEX '89 featured a display of over 150 frames in the National Class and some 40 frames in the Regional Class. Both classes had youth exhibits as well.

Forty-three dealers formed the bourse and 10 philatelic societies or study groups met during the weekend. The American Topical Association (ATA); the Postal History Society of Canada (PHSC), the British North America Philatelic Society (BNAPS) and the Canadian Aerophilatelic Society (CAS) held regional meetings. Furthermore the Canadiana Study Group of ATA; the Fancy Cancel, Squared Circle and Revenue Study Groups of BNAPS; the Klussendorf Study Group of the PHSC and the Precancel Study Group held meetings and slide presentations.

More than 125 people attended the official opening ceremony of ORAPEX '89 which featured a lecture and slide presentation by Fred Black, a director of the R.P.S.C., and well known Canadiana collector. Lt-Col. Black spoke for 45 minutes on the subject of Canadiana as found in the philately of France, the French Colonies and the French Community. This was in keeping with the theme of ORAPEX '89: France-Canada Friendship in honour of the 200th anniversary of the French Revolution.

Canada Post and the French Post Office, in attendance at a national Show in Canada for the first time, did a roaring business. The French Post Office was so pleased that it is considering adding Canada to its regular show itinerary.

Seven judges and three apprentices shared the onerous duties of judging 40 excellent and well presented exhibits. The national panel consisted of Bill Robinson as Chief Judge, Père Jean-Claude Lafleur, Jim Kraemer, Miet Kamienski and Dick Malott as judges and Doug Lingard, Dave Nickson and Otto Zeiman as apprentices. They awarded one Gold, 10 Vermeil, eight Silver, seven Silver-Bronzes and four Bronzes. The Gold Award winner was Paul Burega. In addition to his Gold medal, Mr. Burega, who showed Newfoundland: First

Cents Issue, 1865-1898, was presented with a copy of The Stamps and Postal History of Vancouver Island and British Columbia, formed by Gerald Wellburn. This grand prize was donated by the well-known Vancouver firm of F.E. Eaton and Sons to whom we are very grateful.

The Regional class panel was under the chairmanship of Pat Campbell with David Nickson as judge and Charles Verge, the show's chairperson as apprentice. Three Vermeil, six Silver Bronze and one Bronze medals were awarded by the panel. The Regional Class winner of the Reserve Grand Award was a collection entitled World Association of Girl Guides and Girl Scouts formed by Pam Zoubie. Mrs. Zoubie, a long time member of the R.A. Stamp Club, the host club, obtained a Vermeil medal and a copy of the excellent presentation book prepared for the opening of the National Postal Museum 15 years ago.

Other activities during the weekend included a full day devoted exclusively to school groups and youth stamp clubs and a judging critique attended by many showgoers and all the exhibitors. On Sunday a judging seminar was held with 20 people in attendance. As well, at the close of the show the Most Popular Exhibit, as voted by the public, was awarded to Ruth Powell of Edmonton, Alta. for her exhibit: Our World of the Cetaceans. Ms Powell, who received a Silver medal, was also awarded the prize for best junior in the National Class.

All in all ORAPEX '89 was viewed by all who attended, public, dealers, press, exhibitors and organizers as an excellent and very successful show. Our thanks go out to the Royal and its board of directors for the confidence they showed in accrediting ORAPEX '89 as a National Show. The Organizing Committee wishes to give thanks particularly to three directors of the Royal and one of its officers for their help and contribution. Messrs Kraemer, Robinson, Black and Mitchener take a bow for many services rendered to ORAPEX '89, which are too many to list here, it is well deserved.

Should any dealer, society or study group and/or exhibitor wish to join us to celebrate the 150th anniversary of the first adhesive postage stamp, the Penny Black, at ORAPEX '90 they simply have to contact the Chair, ORAPEX '90, c/o R.A. Stamp Club, 2451 Riverside Drive, Ottawa, Ontario K1H 7X7.

The 29th edition of ORAPEX will be held the weekend of April 27-29, 1990. Ottawa is a nice stopover for a weekend before going on to the British capital for London '90 the week after.

The Real 'J.R.': The Winnipeg Years

by Dale Speirs

John Reginald Hooper, one of the founders of organized philately in Canada, was severely inconvenienced when he was sent to prison in 1894 for murdering his second wife. After a series of appeals and requests for a pardon, he was released in 1902. His whereabouts are not certain until 1906, by which time he was living in Winnipeg in rented rooms at 454 Spence. The following year he moved to 183 Walnut and stayed there until 1918. The 1919 Henderson's Directory shows that address occupied by a different person, so Hooper must have left Winnipeg sometime in late 1918 or early 1919. He dropped out of sight, but was probably in the United States, where he finished his life. In 1936, he was reported to have made a tour of Alberta and British Columbia, although there is no mention of him in the 1936 archives of the Calgary Philatelic Society.

During Hooper's time in Winnipeg, he published a philatelic publication called 'The Hobbyist', about which more later. He remarried, and his third wife, Lucy Charlotte, is listed at his address of 183 Walnut from 1913 to 1916. She was secretary-treasurer of his publishing company.

Hooper was always active in a large variety of non-profit societies, just as he had been prior to his jail term. In Winnipeg, Hooper was involved in editing or writing for a number of non-philatelic publications for his living, including Western Canada Contractor, Canadian Lumberman, Retail Lumberman, and Western Builder. In 1907, he was listed as manager of the C.H. Mortimer Publ. Co., headquartered at his house. By 1911 he was president of Hooper Publ. Co. at 606 Builders Exchange. Hooper Publ. Co. moved once more and is last listed in 1917 at #307 - 322 Donald.

His participation in charities and benefit societies continued. According to a report in the Jan. 1, 1912, Free Press, Hooper was given a testimonial presentation at a dinner for his part in organizing the Veteran's Brigade. There is little doubt that he would have been active in other organizations as well.

Among his various business and charitable activities were a number relating to philately. The line between business and charity was sometimes blurred, as it is difficult to distinguish between the two where Hooper was concerned. From January 1909 to April 1913, Hooper published a general stamp magazine called The Hobbyist. It was printed by O.K. Press, O. Kendall prop., who also dealt in stamps on the side. The Hobbyist ran to 50 issues in five volumes. Amongst its numerous advertisements where those of Kendall, and those of Lucy Hooper. It is difficult to say if she was dealing on her own account or was fronting for her husband. Hooper was the editor of The Hobbyist; strangely enough, he always listed himself on the masthead as J.J. Hooper, not J.R. Hooper.

From the beginning, The Hobbyist was the official publication of the Hobby Club or International Exchange Hobby Club, an exchange packet run by Kendall. This organization was founded in 1908. It issued a set of three labels (see photo) printed in green, red, and black. The Hobbyist was also the publication of the Winnipeg Philatelic Association and of the Canadian Philatelic Society. The editorial content was much the same as the general magazines of today, with current news and gossip, articles on worldwide philately, and biographies of prominent philatelists. All of these were interspersed with display and small advertisements. □

Tory Hill Post Office Makes A Little History

by James E. Kraemer

From Jan. 4 to 6, 1988 Tory Hill Post Office made history. A fire on New Year's eve, Dec. 31, 1987 destroyed the general store and post office. The building, a landmark in Tory Hill, was located on the same lot as the building that housed the post office when it opened on Aug. 1, 1893. In the summer of 1929 the post office re-located to Ross Anderson's service station on the main corner of the village. (1) It moved back to the general store on June 30, 1973 when John Harry Finlay became the new postmaster and remained there until the fire destroyed the building.

Canada Post Corporation, Ottawa had purchased a new mobile post office, (M.P.O.), in November 1987 and Tory Hill presented the first emergency where the M.P.O. was needed. From Jan. 4 to 6, 1988 the mobile post office, parked adjacent to the burned-out store and post office, provided full service to the public as a postal facility. A special postmark, E.M.1, (Emergency Mobile No. 1), was used to cancel the mail. The postal code K1A 0B1 on the postmark indicates that the mobile postal facility was from Canada Post Corporation headquarters in Ottawa.

The public of Tory Hill were grateful that they were not abandoned. Roger Charette, a rural operations officer, Rural Services, and Wayne Stratton, Rideau Division, Rural Services officer, went to Tory Hill as part of the recovery team. While the postmaster (John) Emad Elamad served his customers from the E.M. post office, Mr. Stratton, accompanied by Douglas Gazley, Field Service Manager, West area, retrieved damaged mail from the burned-out post office. They bagged and despatched it to Peterborough where Security and Investigation Services along with Customer Service personnel salvaged what they could. (2) Postmaster Elamad rented a house in the village and set up a temporary post office. A few weeks later Mr. Elamad decided to resign his postmastership effective April 30, 1988.

Finlay's General Store and post office. Store 1910 - 1987, post office 1929 - 1987.

On May 1, 1988 a Retail Postal Outlet (R.P.O.), opened in Tory Hill with Mrs. Maureen Deslaurier appointed agent. All this suggested that we should take a look into the history of Tory Hill and its post office.

Tory Hill is in Monmouth Township in Haliburton County. The township was named after Monmouth in the County of Gwent, Wales, England, referred to in the Doomsday Book of 1066 as, "Monemude".

The township was surveyed in 1862 and in 1864 it became part of Peterborough County until 1874 when Haliburton County separated.

In 1873 Edward Irwin Buchanan and his wife Catherine (Dick), came as one of the first settlers. Monmouth was part of the union with Cardiff and Glamorgan Townships until 1874 when Monmouth separated. Haliburton County was the last part of Southern Ontario to be settled.

In 1883 John Harry Anderson and his wife Annie (Leadley), came from Apsley, Ont. to what is today Tory Hill. They located on 200 acres of free grant land on Conc. 10, Lots 21 and 22 and built a small cabin on the property. Mr. Anderson, who was the Crown Lands agent, became township clerk a few years later. A community soon developed at what is now the junction of highways 121 and 503. It is located almost halfway between Haliburton and Bancroft. By the year 1890 Mr. Anderson built the first store in the area. He used a team of horses to drive to the railway station in Haliburton in order to pick up supplies for his store. This was a two-day trip over a road that was little more than a trail through the bush. Local settlers had to go $3\frac{1}{2}$ miles to the store in South Wilberforce for their mail which arrived there on a weekly service. It was obvious to Mr. Anderson that the settlement which had become known as Glen Anderson needed a post office. During 1891 and 1892 he endeavoured to persuade the Post Office Department in Ottawa to open a post office in his store. The name Glen Anderson was not acceptable to the Department — there were already too many Glen's and too many Anderson's as part of a post office name in Canada (3).

Alexander Niven, the county surveyor, was the Liberal candidate in the 1892 election. He received only one local vote in the election and advised John Anderson that he should go after the post office that he always wanted and had best call it Tory Hill. As a result John Anderson wrote to the Post Office Department again and suggested that the post office be named Tory Hill. The post office opened in Anderson's store on Aug. 1, 1893 with John Anderson as the first postmaster. For years the community was still referred to as Glen Anderson. Even today, 90 years later, the name is still heard occasionally in reference to the community.

With the opening of the post office a twice-weekly mail service between Tory Hill and Wilberforce was established with R.A. Riley as the courier. His mother Harriet was the postmaster at South Wilberforce. It was also in 1893 that the Irondale, Bancroft and Ottawa Railway came to Tory Hill. The first engine on the I.B. & O. railway was a wood burner named Mary Anne.(4)

On July 1, 1895 mail arrived in Tory Hill by rail. Mr. Anderson was awarded a contract at $50 a year to make 12 trips a week between the railway station and the post office, a distance officially noted as being 10 rods, (1 rod = 5½ yards). Post office files record the revenue for Tory Hill in 1895 as $65, increasing to $138.27 in 1898. The postmaster's remuneration for the same years was $18 and $48 respectively. While this appears to be a miniscule amount today, it was considered a fair recompense at the turn of the century.

On Oct. 16, 1901 the Anderson's daughter, Elizabeth Maude, and James Edmund (Ed) Finlay were married and moved to Burnt River, Ont. They moved back to Tory Hill in October 1908 to take over the Anderson General store. A few weeks later John Anderson gave up the post office effective Dec. 21, 1908 and was succeeded by his son Roscoe (Ross) Hilliard Anderson who had come back to Tory Hill from Lindsay, Ont. Officially he served from Feb. 19, 1909 until his retirement in 1959, a period of more than 50 years.

Ross Harry Anderson, Postmaster 1959-1971

Howard P. Anderson, Postmaster 1971 - 1973

John H. Finlay, Postmaster 1973 - 1980.

In 1910, while unpacking dishes R.H. Anderson had an oil lamp fall and explode. The store, post office and living quarters above were destroyed. By mid-December 1910, a 24-by-60 foot building with living quarters above had been completed.(5) From 1910 until the end of 1987 the store was known as Finlay's General Store. The post office remained at this location until 1929.

During World War 1 Ross Anderson served his country as Colonel of the 109th Regiment. In 1929 he moved the post office to his service station. Electricity came to Tory Hill in 1948 and the telephone in 1949. The lumbering industry in the 1920s and 1930s made Tory Hill prosperous. With nearby uranium mines operating in the 1950s, prosperity again returned to the community. In 1950-51 R.H. Anderson was elected reeve of the township. (6) Ross Anderson (1884-1971), who would celebrate his 75th birthday on Dec. 18, 1959, retired on May 20, 1959. His son Ross Harry Anderson, Jr. became postmaster Dec. 4, 1959.

By 1960 roads through Tory Hill were first class, the lumbering industry no longer was a factor in the area and the uranium mines were closing down. After operating for 67 years, the last trip of the I.B. & O railway took place on March 31, 1960. (7) Twelve years after his appointment Ross Harry Jr. resigned his postmastership on May 1, 1971. His son Howard Price Anderson, a great grandson of John H., the first postmaster, served as Tory Hill's fourth postmaster. Howard's wife Suzanne acted as post office assistant. Two years after his appointment, Howard P. Anderson resigned on June 30, 1973.

In 1955 Ed Finlay, who had operated Finlay's General Store since 1908, passed away. His son John Harry Finlay, a grandson of John H. Anderson, and his wife Margaret moved to Tory Hill to take over the family store. When Howard P. Anderson resigned as postmaster in 1973, John Harry Finlay became the new postmaster and moved the post office back to Finlay's General Store.

A rural mail route, R.R. No. 1 Tory Hill, had been set up in 1968 with James McCrea of Essonville as mail courier. The mail route went from Tory Hill to Essonville to South Wilberforce and back to Tory Hill. L. Traviss succeeded Mr. McCrea who in turn was followed by Mrs. Carmen (Delores) Lee in 1979. In 1984 Tory Hill post office provided service to 65 residential and six business addresses. Rural Route No. 1 served 50 residential and five business addresses.(8)

Harry Finlay celebrated his 65th birthday on June 29, 1980 and was superannuated by Canada Post. His wife Mary Margaret Finlay became Tory Hill's sixth postmaster serving for six years from July 1, 1980 until she, too was superannuated on Aug. 31, 1986. Margaret Finlay celebrated her 65th birthday on July 17, 1986. Harry and Marg Finlay sold Finlay's store to John and Jackie Elamad of Markham, Ont. The Elamads took over the store on Aug. 1, 1986 and John Elamad officially became postmaster on Sept. 1, 1986. After the post office and general store was destroyed by fire on New Years Eve 1987, Mr. Elamad opened a temporary post office in the vacant home of Gordon Lee on Jan. 6, 1988.(5)

Since May 1, 1988 the Tory Hill post office has been an R.P.O., (Retail Postal Outlet) located at the residence of Mrs. Maureen Deslaurier. Does this mean that John Elamad was the last postmaster of Tory Hill? Perhaps technically speaking this is true. The writer is of the opinion that although Mrs. Deslaurier is the manager of a retail postal outlet with duties somewhat different to a postmaster, she is in somewhat different to a postmaster, she is in de facto the postmaster of Tory Hill. Since Tory Hill became a retail postal outlet it has been serviced by Haliburton, an R.D.C.F. (Rural Distribution Centre Facility).

In conclusion, it should be noted that when Mrs. Mary Margaret Finlay resigned in 1986 a 93-year period of postal service by one family came to an end. This surely represents some sort of a record.

The Confederation Conferences

by C.F. Black

In the spring of 1864 the colonial legislatures of New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island passed resolutions indicating a rather lukewarm interest in having a joint conference on the subject of the political union of the three colonies. Such a union had been approved in principle by the British Colonial Office.

Some time later in the year the Colony of Canada, its two parts of Canada East and Canada West having been finding it difficult to live together in harmony, expressed a wish to attend such a conference, and this spurred the three Atlantic colonies to proceed with its organization. It was arranged that it would be convened in Charlottetown on Sept. 1, with Canadians invited to attend.

On August 29 representatives of the governments of the Canadas were gathering. There were 11 of them, including such prominent figures as John A. Macdonald, George Etienne Cartier and George Brown. Three of the 11 were support staff. They boarded the Canadian Government steamer 'Queen Victoria,' and headed for Charlottetown, where 15 politicians, representing the government and opposition parties of the three Atlantic colonies were assembling. There were five from each colony, headed by their premiers, Dr. Charles Tupper of Nova Scotia, Leonard Tilley of New Brunswick and Colonel John Hamilton Gray of P.E.I.

The 15 met in the Legislative Chamber of the Colonial Building, which had been completed in 1847. The room in which they met is now known as the Confederation Chamber; it is much as it was in 1864, and furnished with the original table and chairs.

The Canadians arrived early that day. When the 'Queen Victoria' has been sighted early that morning opposite Hillsborough Bay, approaching Charlottetown Harbour, it at first caused some alarm. The American Civil War was then at its height, and a Confederate commerce raider, the 'Tallahassee,' was known to have escaped from Halifax Harbour, where it had been chased by two Union men-of-war. Thus, when a strange vessel had been reported, rumour at once pronounced it to be the escapee. When, however, it turned out to be the 'Queen Victoria' from Quebec, and had anchored in the harbour, it was welcomed. A rowboat put off from the shore, bringing a gentleman in a top hat who had come to greet the delegates. He was the Honourable William H. Pope, the Colonial Secretary of the Island.

The Canadian delegates then came ashore in two of their ship's rowboats, each manned by uniformed oarsmen and a boatswain. They were invited to attend the Conference, at first as observers, but then to participate fully in the formal meetings.

Shortly after they had arrived it was found, to the embarrassment of their hosts, that there was not sufficient hotel accommodation for them all. Some were accommodated in the homes of the Island delegates, but others were obliged to rely on the facilities of the 'Queen Victoria.' Such overcrowding was unusual, and it was for a reason unrelated to the Conference. For the first time in 21 years a circus was visiting town, and people from the surrounding countryside had come in large numbers, not to see the delegates, but Slaymaker and Nichol's Olympic Circus.

On Sept. 2 the Canadians were asked to present their case for the wider union, and this enlarged proposal immediately dominated the discussions, which continued until Sept. 7. General agreement was by then reached that the larger concept be approved.

During these days it was not all work that occupied the delegates. There were a number of social engagements, and there were opportunities for private discussions and the formation of personal friendships. At least one of the delegates from Canada wrote his wife to tell her that he had spent some of his spare time catching lobsters over the side of the steamer in Charlottetown Harbour.

Scott No. 224

One of the events attended by all the delegates was a visit to Government House. While there a group photograph was taken. This, which included two of the attendant staff, is reproduced on the 13-cent stamp of 1935.

Scott No. 1022

Another stamp has a Charlottetown Conference theme. It is the Jean-Paul Lemieux painting on the P.E.I. stamp of the Canada Day issue of 1984. Three of the delegates are at the right of what appears to be Government House in the left background.

Booklet 82A

The Colonial Building, where the meetings were held, has for some years been a National Historic Site. It is seen on a stamped pictorial postcard of 1930, and is on the front cover of the P.E.I. booklet of the series featuring sketches of the Legislative Buildings of the provinces, a series that kept appearing with varying contents and in different colours of cover from 1982 to 1985.

Scott No. 431

It is also seen, in part, at the left of the 5-cent stamp issued in 1964 to commemorate the centenary of the Conference. At the right is the Fathers of Confederation Memorial Building, erected in that year adjacent to the older one. This memorial is a complex that contains a Memorial Hall, a library, an art gallery and what is considered to be one of the finest theatres in North America. It was opened on Oct. 6, 1964, by Queen Elizabeth. The Memorial is pictured on the stamp as it had been conceived, but the building as seen today is somewhat different.

The 25th anniversary of its opening by the Queen is being marked in October of this year by one of the block of four of Canada's Performing Arts stamps.

Scott No. 484

A representation of the central part of the Colonial Building is at the right of the 5-cent stamp issued in 1968 to commemorate the sesquicentennial of the birth of George Brown, one of the Canadian delegates and who was the founder of the Toronto 'Globe.' It was he who had been catching the lobsters.

Before leaving Charlottetown it might be mentioned that in 1989 the 125th anniversary of the Conference is being celebrated in P.E.I. from mid-June until September. Descendants of the Fathers of Confederation are especially invited to be present.

The delegates had agreed to meet briefly on Sept. 12 at Halifax, which, on board the 'Queen Victoria,' they reached on Sept. 10. This meeting was held in surroundings comparable to those in Charlottetown, in the Nova Scotian Legislative Council Chamber. At that meeting they arranged to meet on Oct. 10 at Quebec, there to discuss in greater detail the general agreement reached at Charlottetown, and to draft resolutions for presentation to the British Parliament.

Early in October the 'Queen Victoria' was despatched down the Gulf of St. Lawrence for the second time to pick up the delegates from the Atlantic colonies and bring them to the second Conference.

Sadly, the 'Queen Victoria,' after playing its unique role in our history, was to survive only two more years. In September 1866, while on charter, she was returning from delivering a Canadian cargo to Havana, Cuba, when she was caught by a hurricane off Cape Hatteras and foundered, with the loss of two lives.

The Quebec Conference was more largely attended than that at Charlottetown. The original 23 delegates were all there, and two more had come from New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island, four more from Canada, and there were two from Newfoundland, a total of 33.

Their meetings were held in the reading room of the Canadian Legislative Building, a utilitarian structure destined later, when Ottawa became the capital of the new country, to be converted to a post office.

Sir Etienne Tache, the First Minister of the Canadian Cabinet, was chosen to be chairman of the Conference. In framing their proposals for the consideration of the British government the delegates wished to avoid what they considered to be a mistake made by the Americans in giving too much authority to the constituent colonies. The delegates greatly preferred this Confederation to be a strong union with a predominant central government. In their voting on what were eventually to become 72 resolutions there was a striking evidence of the basic unanimity of British North American opinion.

They concluded their task on Thursday, Oct. 27, and late that afternoon left Quebec on a holiday tour, going as far as Niagara Falls. They then dispersed.

The resolutions were eventually, after some modifications, to form the basis of the statute of the British Parliament to become known as the British North America Act. Some two years were to elapse, however, before there was further progress toward that culmination of their efforts.

We now look ahead a number of years to an event with a philatelic connection that has a relationship to the Quebec Conference. In 1883 the federal government commissioned what was to become one of the most widely-known of all Canadian paintings. They selected a Welsh-born, but by then Canadian, artist, Robert Harris, to paint a memorial picture of the Fathers of Confederation who had been at Quebec. This painting was present to public view at the Academy exhibition in 1884.

Harris gave his painting the formal title 'meeting of the Delegates of British North America, to settle terms of Confederation, Quebec, October 1864,' but it is now generally known as 'The Fathers of Confederation.'

Scott No. 135

This work, or rather part of it, is the one seen on the 3-cent stamp issued in 1917 to commemorate the 50th Anniversary of Confederation. It portrays the 33 delegates and the secretary of the Conference, Major Hewitt Bernard, of P.E.I., who had earlier been the secretary at Charlottetown.

On the stamp one of the figures at the left is omitted, as are seven at the right. The stamp was designed and printed by the American Bank Note Company. They defended the omissions by claiming that it would have been impossible to have included them all and achieved a satisfactory result. The artist and others were unhappy with this tampering with the painting. Harris expressed his view when he wrote to the Superintendent of the Post Office:

"I think it a pity no one thought fit to consult me on the matter; I should have been able to suggest use of the picture without sacrifice of the small group of men at the extreme right, whose descendants may not unnaturally feel aggrieved at their omission."

In the painting the Fathers are mostly shown as a group of elderly and somewhat dignified gentlemen. At the time of the Conference they were relatively young and energetic. Only two were over 60, 11 were in their 50s and most of them still in their 30s and 40s. Harris decided to present them as Canadians had come to recognize them as they were in their later years in public life.

It should perhaps be mentioned that the room in which they had met in Quebec did not have the arched windows seen in the painting, and that the artist used artistic licence in showing the faces clearly despite the fact that the light from the windows is coming from behind them.

Scott No. 142

Harris would have been better pleased with the 2-cent stamp issued in 1927 to commemorate the 60th anniversary of Confederation, but he did not live to see it, as he had died in 1919. It was designed and printed by the same company as the earlier one (although in 1923 it had become the Canadian Bank Note Company), but all the figures in the original painting are shown, even including the secretary, Hewitt Bernard, the upper figure at the extreme left. The side borders had been reduced.

Unfortunately, the original painting had been lost when in 1916 fire largely destroyed the Centre Block of the Parliament Buildings, where it had been on display.

Scott No. 432

The Quebec Conference is the subject of another stamp, a 5-cent in 1964 to commemorate its centenary; this features a maple leaf and a hand holding a quill pen such as would have been used in 1864.

Late in 1866 a group of 16 British North American delegates proceeded to London, where they gave further detailed consideration to the 72 Quebec resolutions before presenting them to the British Parliament. These men represented Canada, Nova Scotia and New Brunswick; neither Prince Edward Island nor Newfoundland expressed a desire to be present. Three of these had not been at either the Charlottetown or Quebec Conferences. A number of the delegates stayed at the Westminster Palace Hotel, and it was there that the meetings were held from December 1866 to February 1867. For a time the Conference bore the hotel's name, but it later became known as the London Conference. The delay of two years had been caused by fluctuating enthusiasm in some of the colonies.

These 16 delegates reached agreement on a number of modifications and refinements. John A. Macdonald was the greatest contributor of practical ideas as to how the union could best be achieved, while help on the financial side came from Alexander Galt and on matters relating to provincial rights from George E. Cartier. British representatives were in attendance, and were strongly in favour of the proposals. They looked on the confederation as the best defence against the possibility of American military aggression.

The British North America Act was quickly passed in the House of Commons and by the House of Lords, and was signed by Queen Victoria on March 29, 1867. It was proclaimed into law on July 1.

Scott No. 448

Only one stamp has a London Conference context, a 5-cent issued in 1966 to mark its centenary. This shows a group of top-hatted gentlemen in London, across the Thames from the Houses of Parliament.

Scott No. 141

Scott No. 586

Five more of the Fathers have made it on to Canadian stamps on their own. Sir John A.

Scott No. 147

Macdonald, our first Prime Minister (1867-1873 and 1878-1891), is on three: two in 1927, the 1-cent of the set for the 60th anniversary of Confederation and the 12-cent (along with Sir Wilfrid Laurier) of the Historical issue, and on the 1-cent of 1973. The presence of Laurier on the 5-cent of the 1927 Confederation issue, it has been remarked, was a curious choice, because in 1867 he was the editor of a publication that was opposed to the idea of Confederation, Le Defricheur. He later, of course, became a powerful and influential supporter, and became prime minister (1896-1911).

Scott No. 146

Scott No. 190

Thomas d'Arcy McGee, who was at the Charlottetown and Quebec Conferences, is on the 5-cent of the 1927 Historical set. McGee was the first Canadian politician to be assassinated, shot in 1868 while on his way home from the House of Commons.

Sir George Etienne Cartier, who had attended all three Conferences, was honoured on a 10-cent of 1931. Sir Charles Tupper (Prime Minister 1896), who was at all conferences, is on a 1955 5-cent. George Brown, as noted earlier, is on a 5-cent of 1968; his life was to end violently when he was shot by an employee of the paper he had founded, the Toronto

Globe. The 150th anniversary of the birth of Sir Oliver Mowat, who was at Quebec only, was commemorated by a 6-cent in 1970; he had been the Postmaster General of Canada in 1864 when the Conferences were being held.

Neither of the chairman of the Conferences held in Canada, Gray and Tache, have been individually honoured, and it may be that they deserve consideration.

There have been differences of opinion as to how many Fathers of Confederation there were. One philatelic writer has stated that there is no argument, there were 33. An encyclopaedia tells us that there were 34, all those in the Harris painting, including the secretary. The correct total is 36, which includes all who were at one or more of the three Conferences. That is the number of the names engraved above the entrance to the Memorial Hall of the Fathers of Confederation Memorial Building in Charlottetown. □

Les Oblitération Thematiques, 1981-88, Dessinees Par François Brisse

par Richard Gratton, A.Q.E.P.

Plusieurs pays émettent régulièrement des oblitérations thématiques afin de mettre en évidence des lieux, des personnages ou des événements qui peuvent être locaux, régionaux ou nationaux. Ces oblitérations commémoratives sont très recherchées par les philatélistes, en particulier par les marcophiles et les thématistes.

Pendant plusieurs années, les philatélistes canadiens n'avaient pas la possibilité de se procurer ce type d'oblitération sauf lors d'exposition philatéliques de très grande envergure (Capex par exemple) ou lors d'émission de nouveaux timbres-poste sur les enveloppes premier jour d'émission produites par la Société canadienne des postes ou encore lors d'événements très spéciaux (tels les jeux olympiques).

Alors que ce genre de collection fut pendant longtemps ignoré de la part de la majorité des philatélistes, principalement à cause du faible nombre de marques produites et disponibles, certains philatélistes commencent aujourd'hui à prendre un grand intérêt et la popularité de ces marques postales modernes semble sans cesse croissant grâce aux efforts du professeur Brisse.

J'aimerais vous présenter François Brisse, un philatéliste qui travaille depuis de nombreuses années à la promotion de ce genre d'oblitération. Il est né à Paris en 1935 (fig. 1). Il commence à collectionner les timbres-poste vers l'âge de 10 ans. Il fait ses études en chimie à L'Université de Bordeaux, en France, et émigre au Canada en 1962. Il enseigne présentement la cristallographie à l'Université de Montréal. Il est marié père de deux enfants.

Ses intérêts philatéliques sont très vastes. En effet, il collectionne les timbres du Canada, de la France, et tout ce qui touche l'histoire postale de ces deux pays. Il collectionne aussi les thèmes suivants: les ballons, l'Antarctique, la chimie et les sciences.

Il est membre de plusieurs associations dont l'Académie québécoise d'études philatéliques, la Société française de philatélie polaire, L'American Society of Polar Philatelist, la Royal Philatelic Society of Canada et la Fédération québécoise de philatélie pour laquelle il est le rédacteur en chef du magazine mensuel "Philatélie Québec".

François Brisse est aussi membre de la Chemistry and Physics on Stamps Study Unit de l'American Topical Association. C'est d'ailleurs grâce à cette association que j'ai pu le rencontrer pour la première fois à titre de philatéliste. Il faut dire que j'ai eu la chance de suivre un cours donné par le professeur Brisse alors que j'étais étudiant en chimie à l'Université de Montréal. Mais la cristallographie n'était pas mon sujet favori! Enfin, passons...

LES OBLITERATIONS THEMATIQUES

En 1981, le XIII^e Congrès et l'Assemblée générale de l'Union internationale de cristallographie ont eu lieu à Ottawa du 16 au 25 août. François Brisse proposa une oblitération aux autorités postales canadiennes représentant le logo du Congrès, soit quatre feuilles d'érable stylisées (fig. 2). Cette oblitération fut produite avec l'accord des postes canadiennes, qui étaient alors au beau milieu d'un conflit de travail majeur (grève). Il existe une date différente pour chaque jour qu'a duré le Congrès.

Trois ans plus tard, François Brisse crée trois autres oblitérations pour commémorer un autre congrès réunissant des chimistes de l'Amérique: le Congrès de chimie CAN-AM, qui s'est tenu au Palais des Congrès de Montréal du 4 au 6 juin 1984. Il existe une oblitération différente pour chacun des jours du Congrès. La première représente la duplication de l'ADN (acide désoxyribonucléique) et le logo du Canadian Institute of Chemistry (C.I.C.) (fig. 3).

L'oblitération du 5 juin illustre encore le logo du C.I.C., le symbole chimique de l'or (Au).

la représentation d'un minéral et la structure atomique de l'or (fig. 4).

L'oblitération du 6 juin représente les logos des trois sociétés participantes au Congrès, soit la Canadian Institute of Chemistry, l'Ordre des chimistes du Québec et l'American Institute of Chemists (fig. 5).

De nos jours ces trois oblitérations sont très rares et très recherchées (moins de 200 séries complètes existent).

En 1984, François Brisse dessine l'oblitération commémorant l'arrivée de Jacques Cartier à Gaspé (fig. 6). Cette oblitération servira aussi lors de l'Exposition Canada 1984 qui s'est déroulée à Montréal.

En 1985, lors de la 22^e exposition philatélique annuelle du Lakeshore Stamp Club (Pointe-Claire, Québec), il conçoit une oblitération illustrant le moulin de Pointe-Claire, logo du club (fig. 7).

Fig. 9

L'année suivante, il dessine une autre oblitération pour le même événement philatélique (fig. 8). Cette fois-ci, elle représente une vue de l'aéroport de Dorval d'où un avion s'envole.

Son talent commence à être connu, et on lui demande de créer l'oblitération de la 21^{ème} convention annuelle de l'Association des clubs de radio-amateur de l'Amérique du nord qui a eu lieu à Montréal le 23 juillet 1986 (fig. 9).

Fig. 10

La Maison de la poste de Montréal, située sur la rue Sainte-Catherine ouest, lui demande de lui faire une oblitération illustrant son emplacement (fig. 10). A partir de ce moment, la production de François Brisse s'intensifiera à une vitesse alarmante!

Dans le cadre du Salon des collectionneurs de Montréal qui a eu lieu au Complexe Guy Favreau du 9 au 11 octobre 1986, la Fédération québécoise de philatélie lui demande de créer une oblitération pour souligner cet important événement philatélique (fig. 11). L'oblitération représente une carte postale de l'ère victorienne.

Fig. 13

Il dessine un autre cachet pour la 24e exposition philatélique annuelle du Lakeshore Stamp Club (fig. 12).

Viennent ensuite les productions liées aux expositions philatéliques organisées par la Maison de la poste à Montréal. En 1987, un groupe de gestionnaires de cet établissement décide de présenter à leurs visiteurs des collections de timbres de particuliers tenant compte de l'actualité régionale.

Dans le cadre de la célèbre et populaire exposition Léonard de Vinci présentée par le Musée des Beaux-Arts de Montréal, la Maison de la poste fait appel au philatéliste Normand Caron qui collectionne justement des timbres sur la vie et l'oeuvre de Léonard de Vinci. Il consent à exposer sa collection, et on demande à François Brisse de créer une oblitération thématique commémorative. Ce dernier choisira une hélice d'hélicoptère pour illustrer les inventions du grand savant et du célèbre peintre (fig. 13).

La Fédération québécoise de philatélie fait de nouveau appel aux services de M. Brisse pour souligner la tenue du Salon des collectionneurs de Montréal de 1987, qui a eu lieu en octobre en plein conflit postal! (fig. 14)

En décembre 1987, la Maison de la poste lui commande une oblitération toute spéciale pour le temps des Fêtes. Ainsi, tout le courrier posté dans cet établissement très fréquenté des philatélistes sera doté du cachet illustré à la figure 15, soit le Père Noël dans son traîneau tiré par cinq rennes.

L'année 1988 sera la plus prolifique du professeur Brisse. Au total, seize oblitérations thématiques furent créées à la demande des philatélistes et des autorités postales pour commémorer divers événements.

Afin de souligner avec tout l'éclat voulu le Grand Samedi des timbres, événement unique dans l'histoire de la Maison de la poste, M. Brisse a produit une oblitération représentant le fameux "castor à trois pence" vu à travers une loupe (fig. 16) Afin de souligner le Mois de la philatélie, qui a lieu en février au Canada, M. Brisse, a utilisé le même cachet, en plus petit, où apparaît dans les deux langues officielles, la mention LE MOIS DE LA PHILATELIE A LA MAISON DE LA POSTE (fig. 17).

À l'occasion des Jeux olympiques d'hiver de Calgary, on décida d'émettre une oblitération visant à démontrer le caractère olympique de la Ville de Montréal. Cette réalité fut immortalisée par la flamme olympique (fig. 18).

Pour souligner l'émission des nouveaux aérogrammes mis sur le marché, une oblitération a été conçue illustrant un aérogramme émis en 1966 (fig. 19).

Le cercle philatélique Le Castor Laurentien de St.-Jérôme organisa les 26 et 27 mai 1988 le Salon philatélique des Laurentides. À cette occasion, on émet une enveloppe-souvenir illustrant le nouvel emplacement des réunions du cercle: le vieux Palais de justice de St-Jérôme, transformé en centre culturel. L'oblitération de M. Brisse représente l'édifice historique (fig. 20).

La Maison de la poste décida, en avril 1988, de faire fabriquer une oblitération permanente dont on pourrait se servir lorsqu'aucune oblitération n'est en vigueur pour souligner un événement quelconque. On demanda à M. Brisse de dessiner les armoiries de la Ville de Montréal (fig. 21)

Une oblitération est émise pour commémorer le 25e anniversaire de l'exposition philatélique annuelle du Lakeshore Stamp Club: le chiffre 25 y est encerclé d'une couronne de laurier, et une encre bleue a été utilisée (fig. 22).

En mai 1988, la Maison de la poste exposait dans son présentoir à 5 volets, la collection thématique sur les minéraux de M. Alan Dean, célèbre cristalophilatériste. Pour l'occasion, François Brisse dessina un minéral typique du Mont-St-Hilaire, l'aégyrine, un silicate de fer et de sodium de formule chimique: $\text{NaFeSi}_2\text{O}_6$ (fig. 23).

À l'occasion de l'assemblée générale annuelle de la Fédération québécoise de philatélie, qui a eu lieu dans les locaux du Regroupement des loisirs du Québec le 28 mai 1988, j'ai commandé à François Brisse une oblitération montrant le Stade olympique. Je crois qu'il s'agit là de sa plus belle réalisation, le stade y étant magnifiquement reproduit. Seulement 250 enveloppes revêtues de ce cachet furent produites et, pour l'occasion, le timbre reproduisant Le petit liseur d'Ozias Leduc apposé a été apposé sur tous les plis. Cette oblitération fut aussi disponible durant tout le mois de septembre à la Maison de la poste (fig. 24).

Chaque année, en juin, a lieu le Festival international de jazz de Montréal. Pour contribuer à souligner cet événement, la Maison de la poste a exposé dans son fameux présentoir à 5 volets la collection de M. Roland Leclaire, musicien retraité de l'Orchestre symphonique de Montréal et philatéliste. Pour l'occasion, M. Brisse a produit une oblitération représentant un trombone (fig. 25).

Dans le cadre de l'émission, en juillet 1988, de quatre timbres représentant des espèces canadiennes de papillons, la Maison de la poste demanda à Normand Caron d'exposer sa collection sur ce thème fort coloré. A cette occasion, M. Brisse choisit d'illustrer un némusien (fig. 26).

En août, c'est au tour du Festival international des films du monde de Montréal de faire la une des journaux. Passionné, M. Denis Masse, chroniqueur philatélique à La Presse, accepte avec enthousiasme l'offre de la Maison de la poste d'exposer sa désormais célèbre thématique sur le cinéma, pour le plaisir des nombreux cinéphiles.

Pour l'occasion, François Brisse a réalisé une oblitération illustrant une pellicule de film sur laquelle on peut lire EXPO CINEMA (fig. 27). Cette collection fut l'une des plus populaires présentées à la Maison de la poste. M. Masse l'exposa également au Salon des collectionneurs de Montréal où il remporta le prix populaire pour cette thématique.

Dans le cadre de l'émission de timbres soulignant le Centenaire du Cercle canadien du chenil, M. Brisse réalisa une oblitération illustrant un chien Terre-Neuve, semblable à celui représenté sur l'un des timbres émis en septembre. (fig. 28).

Pour souligner le 25^e anniversaire du sport organisé "la ringuette", une demande d'un membre de la Maison de la poste fut faite à M. Brisse pour la production en septembre d'une oblitération commémorative. Le cachet représente deux filles pratiquant ce sport qui prend de plus en plus d'ampleur au Québec. Apparaît également l'inscription RINGUETTE 1963-1988. (fig. 29).

Fig. 29

En octobre 1988, on demanda à M. Bernard Lavallée, président de l'Union philatélique de Montréal et directeur de la Royal Philatelic Society of Canada d'exposer sa collection sur la forêt à la Maison de la poste. M. Brisse choisit d'illustrer sur son cachet d'oblitération un arbuste, un sapin (conifère) et un chêne (bois franc) (fig. 30).

Au Salon des collectionneurs de Montréal de 1988 qui eut lieu les 4, 5 et 6 novembre au Complexe Le Windsor, un thème était à l'honneur: "la philatélie, un nouveau monde à découvrir". Les organisateurs eurent l'idée d'illustrer ce thème en faisant allusion au célèbre conte "Alice au pays des merveilles". M. Brisse se mit à l'oeuvre et créa un cachet d'oblitération représentant le lapin du fameux conte. Ce dernier rendait bien l'idée que le nombre de collectionneurs "se multiplie" rapidement. A l'occasion de ce Salon, une carte-souvenir (fig. 31) et quelques enveloppes privées furent aussi émises (fig. 32).

LA FABRICATION DES OBLITERATIONS

Il faut bien comprendre que la fabrication d'une oblitération doit passer par plusieurs étapes, semblables à celles de la fabrication des timbres-poste.

Fig. 32

- A) Une demande officielle doit d'abord être faite à M. Brisse par une autorité de la Société canadienne des postes, à la suite d'une requête formulée par une association (club philatélique, Fédération québécoise de philatélie...) ou par la Maison de la poste.
- B) A l'aide de son ordinateur, M. Brisse dessine un modèle qu'il devra faire approuver par la Société canadienne des postes. Il arrive qu'il y ait, à l'occasion, de légères modifications à effectuer dans le design pour répondre aux normes postales canadiennes.
- C) Une fois le dessin approuvé, celui-ci sera envoyé à la Société canadienne des postes qui fera faire le tampon oblitérant.
- D) Après avoir servi pour souligner une manifestation ou une exposition quelconque, le tampon oblitérant est retourné à la Société canadienne des postes.

Il faut féliciter les gestionnaires de la Maison de la poste pour avoir eu l'initiative de recourir à des oblitérations commémoratives qui contribuent à rendre la philatélie plus vivante et attrayante au Québec. Elles permettent également de souligner des événements qui ne se qualifiaient pas pour l'émission de timbres-poste, mais qui sont très importants pour la communauté philatélique et culturelle de la Ville de Montréal et du Québec tout entier.

Il faut également remercier M. François Brisse pour son intérêt et son précieux apport dans la conception et la réalisation des oblitérations commémoratives. Il n'y a qu'à espérer que d'autres groupes de philatélistes au pays seront stimulés par un tel projet et encouragés dans leurs démarches.

La seule critique que l'on pourrait formuler sur la production de ces oblitérations, c'est qu'elles ne sont pas publicisées adéquatement et que certains collectionneurs désirant obtenir ces marques postales ne sont pas toujours en mesure de se les procurer. En général, on en fait la promotion dans la revue "Philatélie Québec", dans la chronique philatélique de La Presse, dans "Le monde des philatélistes", et tout le courrier déposé à la Maison de la poste est revêtu de ces cachets d'oblitérations. Pour les postes canadiennes, il s'agit là d'une possibilité d'obtenir un revenu très intéressant si elles assuraient la disponibilité de ces oblitérations pour une période de 3 à 6 mois à la Maison de la poste de Montréal.

Ainsi, les oblitérations pourraient être publicisées dans les journaux philatéliques à travers le Canada et les Etats-Unis, au même titre que les oblitérations commémoratives de plusieurs autres pays. De plus, le délai de 3 à 6 mois permettrait à tous les philatélistes intéressés de se procurer ces oblitérations-souvenir selon leurs besoins.

De plus en plus, la philatélie semble se diriger vers la spécialisation et ces oblitérations commémoratives pourraient constituer dans un très proche avenir des pièces philatéliques intéressantes à collectionner au Canada.

TOOLS OF THE HOBBY (PART III)

Following the coverage of basic stamp collecting accessories in Part I, some other important items were discussed in Part II including country identification, albums, album pages, hinges and mounting. Other tools of the hobby beginners may want to consider in due time will now be brought to your attention in brief form.

Stamp Lifter: Stamps which come through the mail but are not cancelled should be left on the paper backing of envelopes. They can be removed with much of the glue/gum attached with the use of a patented stamp lifter. Several types are available from retail or mail order dealers. Instructions for their use can be obtained at the time of purchase or they may accompany the accessory. When dried (slowly, to prevent curling) the stamps may be considered for your mint collection. Old hinges on mint stamps can also be removed with the lifter without disturbing the original gum. However, this activity should be undertaken with extreme care, and, in the case of valued specimens, with the guidance/advice of experienced collectors or dealers. Practise with low denomination stamps is advisable to become proficient — to learn the required heat of the water to be used and the time to process for the best results.

Ultraviolet lamps: Fluorescent or phosphor band/tagged stamps are now in general use throughout the world. The process was developed for use with the automatic sorting equipment. Ultraviolet has been utilized by professional philatelists for many years to detect paper varieties, repairs, ink, colour, forgeries, alterations and gum variations. Many different designs of lamps are available, powered by either batteries or electricity, for longwave or shortwave detection or both. Stamps are printed on fluorescent paper and phosphorescent "tagging" has been in use in Canada since 1962 and can be detected using the long wave ultraviolet lamp, as can those of France, Mexico, Portugal and China. The short wave ultraviolet lamp is suitable for all Canadian stamps including the experimental Winnipeg tagged, Great Britain, United States and Israel. The phosphor band issues of Great Britain are not easy to see with the naked eye, but show as broad vertical bands at certain angles to the light. This process is often referred to as luminescence. Certain stamps were issued both with and without the luminescent factor. Such stamps are shown in the listing of the issue, where the process is used, in catalogues, and very often indicating an increased value and have become highly collectable. It is imperative that you do not look directly at these lamps as they can cause damage to the eyes. It is even unwise to use them beyond a few minutes at a time.

Stamp mounts: These have already been mentioned for the mounting of mint stamps in albums, rather than the use of hinges. A hinged mint stamp is generally classified value-wise lesser than those unhinged. It may be desirable to use mounts for some of your older and/or more valuable used stamps. The mounts are made of clear cellulose acetate or of a pure polystyrol foil, and come in packets of strips for different size stamps or blocks. When placing in the fold take care in cutting to the correct length to leave about an eighth of an inch (2mm) at either end of the stamp and be certain not to damage perforations. The mounts are pregummed for moistening when placing on album pages. Some are available to allow observation of the back of the stamp.

Record book: A small loose-leaf binder (pages 3½ in. x 6 in. or 3¾ in. x 6¾ in.) to record on-going information about your collecting activities, reminder notes for enquiries, inventory, club projects to be undertaken and other information.

Scrapbook: For clipping from newspapers, stamp publications, or photo-copies reference material.

Memberships: With 1. your local philatelic club, - juniors or seniors as applicable, usually issuing a club newsletter, 2. Royal Philatelic Society of Canada (RPSC), 3. other countries have similar national organizations such as the American Philatelic Society (APS) with monthly or semi-monthly journals, 4. Topical/thematic clubs for a great variety of specialized stamp collecting subjects.

National Postal Brochures or Bulletins:

Issued by most countries to announce upcoming issues of definitives and commemorative stamps, some without charge, such as from the Canada Post Corporation, Antigonish, Nova Scotia, B2G 2R8. If any collector is interested in obtaining addresses of particular countries to obtain their respective publications forward a SASE to the juniors' editor and every effort will be made to respond to your enquiry.

Publications: Collectors may wish to subscribe to weekly or monthly stamp newspapers such Canadian Stamp News, 10 Tempo Ave., North York, Ontario, M2H 2N8;; Linn's Stamp News, P.O. Box 29, Sidney, Ohio, U.S.A. 45365-9977; The Stamp Collector, PO.Box 10, Albany, Oregon, U.S.A. 97321.

Reference books: A stamp collectors dictionary is a useful book either for an individual or for a junior club. There is a variety of publications, some of which may be found in your local library. A dictionary will explain the many philatelic terms and abbreviations, while some will provide a stamp identifier with illustrations. An inexpensive atlas, showing the countries of each continent and indicating the new names of countries, especially those of Africa, might well be included in the club library. A global swivel map is often seen in collector's den.

Collector's corner: Every serious collector has some space in his home which is a private stamp domain. A desk is a must, which can be a simple table. Shelves for albums and stocksheets binders, by countries, commonwealth, general/international, mints, blocks or other multiples, first day covers, postal stationery or history, and specialties/topicals.

Filing cabinet: For correspondence in a breakdown using manilla folders, and for country issue release bulletins, and a variety of other sections, to keep everything in an orderly arrangement.

Safe: Serious collectors who have acquired valuable samps and sets or other philatelic material have a small safe either on wheels or built into a wall to safeguard against theft or fire. Extreme care must be used in selection of safes particularly older or water-insulated types. Silica gel crystal packets used to minimize humidity in shipping cartons may be obtained from some retail outlets. These should be placed in safes or other closed containers where albums may be kept or stored. Packets should also be placed in safety deposit boxes/drawers if individual valuable stamps are kept in these rental facilities.

Insurance: Serious consideration should be given to insuring collections or individual rare stamps. Valuable information is provided by the RPSC Insurance Plan manager, whose address appears in each issue of the CP.

Bank account: A separate account is often used by collectors for their stamp transactions. The hobby can be self-sustaining financially if properly managed. There are several ways that regular income can be derived from excess supplies of stamps. Most national philatelic societies provide a sales division for their members. Circuit booklets are available at a minimal cost to allow for the circulation of stamps for sale by country and topics to members. After your booklets have been seen by collectors who purchase your stamps at the price you request (usually much less than catalogue value) your booklets will be returned to you with the net sales total. Such amounts can then be deposited in your account. You in turn can be placed on a circuit mailing list in order that you may receive stamps of your choice from other member collectors, for which you make payment to the societies organizing the sales circuits.

Many local clubs have their own circuit arrangements and auction tables, a feature of their regular meetings, both of which can be a source of income and a means of obtaining stamps required.

Dealer auctions are a further method of disposing of stamps where you may bid for the purchase of stamps, lots and other paraphernalia. By faithful accounting and frugal outlay a collector may find that his hobby is not a costly one, and may even be one which supports itself. Yearly accounting may prove very revealing and interesting if maintained in a bank or credit union account where there are no chequing fees and where there may even be some interest funds acquired. (N.B. See the name and address of the Sales manager and feature articles on Circuit Sales in the CP or journals of other societies.)

Carrying cases: A small suitcase, brief or attaché case is perhaps the best way to transport your necessary materials and note books to and from club meetings or when visiting another collector to exchange stamps.

CANADA ODDITIES

On Sept. 18, 1970, a six-cent commemorative stamp, entitled The Group of Seven depicting the Isle of Spruce by Arthur Lismer, was issued to mark the 50th anniversary of the Group of Seven Canadian landscape artists. (The painter's name and title of the painting appears in the marginal inscription of all four corners of each pane of fifty stamps.) Scott's Specialized Catalogue of Canadian Stamps lists 518ia "fire in bush" variety which it values at $4.00 mint and $3.00 used. The flame of fire can be seen 6 and 7 mms from the bottom and 8mm from the left side in one of the stamps on the pane. (There is no copyright symbol or hidden date on this issue form some unknown reason.)

Note: The original members of the Group of Seven in 1920 were Franklin Carmichael, Lauren Harris, A.Y. Jackson (see Scott 955), Frank Johnston, Arthur Lismer (see Scott 518), J.E.H. MacDonald (see Scott 617), and F.H. Varley (see Scott 888). Tom Thomson (see Scott 734, 735) was one of the original group of kindred spirits, known as the Algonquin school, because of the frequency with which they painted in Algonquin Park. It was in this park that tragedy struck with the 1917 canoe accident drowning of Tom Thomson, ending a brief six-year career. His paintings are frequently associated with those of the Group formed three years after his death. Frank Johnston's withdrawal in 1922 reduced the membership to six until Alfred Casson joined in 1926. Two more, one being Edwin H. Holgate in 1931 and the other Lemoine FitzGerald (see Scott 966) in 1932 joined the ranks. (From CPO Stamp Bulletin of August, 1970)

FORMING NEW JUNIOR CLUBS

Enquiries have been received by the Juniors' editor for information to assist clubs and individuals in the organization of Junior Clubs. One of the main reasons for establishing this column was to do that very thing. It was felt desirable that the basic fundamentals of stamp collecting be explained first. We now want to start giving this matter full attention and in detail in the next issue. A kit of helpful suggestions and prepared material is being assembled for those interested and anxious to promote such a worthwhile undertaking. Please contact the Juniors' editor to obtain this kit when it becomes available.

KWIK SORT STAMP FINDER

An RPSC member, Doug Clark, has assembled a great kids book to help you find where Canadian and U.S. stamps belong in your stamp album. It will save you searching through your catalogue for the illustration and number. A Toronto junior club has been given a supply of the current edition in order to learn what other features might be included. Others interested in making suggestions for improving the publication should write to 916-50 Miss Vly Blvd., Mississauga, Ontario, L5A 3S2. The author-publisher advises that there will be a few changes in the 1990 edition. It will be on 8½ in. x 11 in. paper, punched with three holes for use in a binder, and will have the additional benefit of a checklist of mint and used spaces. This novel publication is to assist in locating the year of issue of stamps and their Scott number. The listing in numerical order with some illustrations is a handy method of quickly sorting stamps. Thanks Doug for your contribution to help junior collectors. □

An Original Perforation Sheet

I have come across an original perforation sheet from a Canadian stamp manufacturing company. The full sheet is too large to reproduce but a reduced version is shown. It shows the kind of perforation which apparently was used (see lines at bottom).

This sheet was intended for a large size stamp but may not have been a Canadian issue. The ink notes in the middle reads 24 x 52 and 270104.

What these figures mean is not clear but the latter may be the quantity to be printed.

The perforations measure 11.85. Of interest also is that the sheet has 140 stamps not the usual 100. To all perforation specialists, this should be a find of some note. □

Literature Reviews

SCOTT SPECIALIZED CATALOGUE OF CANADIAN STAMPS – 1989 EDITION – Published by The Unitrade Press, P.O. Box 172, Station A, Toronto, Ont., M5W 1B2. ISBN 0-919801-68-4. Softbound, 13 cm by 21 cm, 304 pages, $7.95 for paperback edition, $9.95 for spiral bound edition and available in both English and French. Available from your local stamp dealer or from the publisher at 127 Cartwright Ave., Toronto, Ont. M6A 1V4 (add $1.50 for mail orders). In the U.S., write Scott Publishing Co., P.O. Box 828, Sydney, OH 45365.

This is the fourth edition of the Scott Specialized Canada published by Unitrade, the previous edition being published in 1987. Like the 1987 edition, this one has larger pages and much more specialized information than the first two.

In preparing this issue, prices have been adjusted to reflect current market conditions, resulting in many price changes many of them lower, than in the previous edition.

Several experts and dealers – John Jamieson, Kasimir Bileski, Bill Boynton, Andrew Chung, Marcel Cool, Henry Gates, Bob Jamieson, Gary Lyon, Robert Lemire, Bill McCann, Ron Richards and Ray Simrak – were consulted in the pricing and cataloguing.

As in 1987, listings include not only basic Canadian and stamps of the provinces – New Brunswick, Nova Scotia, Prince Edward Island, British Columbia and Newfoundland – but also many varieties, special sections on postmarks, proofs, semi-official airmails, Admiral lathework, Canada Post souvenir items, POW free franks, Stick 'n Tics, Booklets, plate and inscription blocks, reply coupons, consular overprints, and postal stationery.

Listings are complete through 1988 and, for earlier issues, contain valuations for very fine, fine and very good grades, both mint and used, as well as on cover.

The grading and pricing thereof very much reflects the premium prices very fine copies garner over fine or very good examples, a plus for this catalogue. And the prices themselves, at least for the late Queen Victoria era this reviewer is most familiar with, much more accurately reflect current prices of both dealers and at auction for single items. In that regard, dealers who have been offering substantial discounts from Scott prices may want to adjust that policy, especially for very fine copies.

While this catalogue remains the most extensive specialized Canadian one on the market today and is one few collectors of Canada and provinces can do without, it still has its faults. Strides in listings and illustrations of varieties have been made; it still is not nearly as specialized as it could be, ignoring many rather common varieties, retouches and re-engravings of many Canadian and provincial stamps.

The catalogue also has an all or nothing attitude towards modern era stamps in its specialization listing. Listings are quite extensive (though by no means complete) for the popular Centennial definitives. But for later definitive series, despite a wealth of information that's available on various papers and gums, little is noted. For some strange reasons, the 1977-82 CBN-printed definitives and the nearly-concurrent (for low values) 1977-83 BABN-printed definitive series which shared several common designs are several pages apart. And again, little mention of the various papers and gums is made.

The sections on provinces continues to be little more than a basic listing; proofs and many reprints are virtually ignored and, except for the most basic, so are varieties.

While the 1989 Scott is an improvement, it still pales in comparison to the specialized catalogues of other countries, the Stanley Gibbons series on Great Britain or even the Scott U.S. specialized.

And color reproduction, while improved from 1987, is still less than ideal. Many colors, especially among the early issues, are far off the shades they should be. The range of what in reality is a pretty standard carmine color in the leaf and numeral issues is particularly appalling.

As previously noted, the 1989 Scott Specialized Canada is improved, more accurately priced and more extensive than ever before, one collectors will want to have. But when one considers books have been written on the many papers, plate varieties, colors, gums etc. on issues as diverse as the first cents issue and the Centennial definitives, which are covered in about two pages each in this edition, it shows how far this catalogue has yet to go to join the ranks of a truly specialized one, one that can serve as a prime reference source as well as pricing guide for the collector.

Le nouveau catalogue spécialisé des timbres du Canada et des provinces Scott nous est arrivé en avril 1989, soit plusieurs mois après la date promise encore une fois. La couverture fut remodelée mais nous avons encore la même mauvaise qualité de reliure. Nos compatriotes anglophones sont gâtés, ils ont une version du catalogue dans leur langue à toutes les années alors que les francophones se contentent de voir le Scott en français à tous les deux ans. En effet, la dernière édition française datait de 1987, mais à tout bien considérer avons-nous manqué quelque chose? Franchement je ne le pense pas!

Il y a certes des améliorations lorsque l'on compare l'édition 89 avec celle de 87. Mentionnons que les couleurs pour les timbres-poste du Canada sont plus près de la vérité et que les dimensions des timbres se sont ajustées plus près de la réalité, mais il faut le dire, ces corrections étaient indispensables. Je réfère le lecteur à ma critique du Scott 87 parue il y a deux ans dans le Canadian Philatelist.

On donne la position et certaines explications ainsi que le détail de certaines variétés (tout comme le catalogue Darnell). On devrait cependant mettre le lecteur en garde contre certaines falsifications des numéros 704i et 841i par exemple; ces timbres trafiqués chimiquement abondent sur le marché et c'est le devoir du catalogue d'en avertir les philatélistes qui se fient sur les informations qui y sont contenues. On a remplacé certains timbres mal centrés par de meilleures copies, cependant j'offre gratuitement mon exemplaire du numéro 1221 (baseball) pour la prochaine édition. Personnellement je trouve que l'on devrait profiter un peu plus d'attention sur cet aspect de la qualité.

J'ai bien aimé la traduction de la variété canadienne C3i le buste gonflé (swollen breast) et je me suis demandé si le traducteur n'était pas gonflé? Cependant lorsque l'on compare le prix, on voit qu'il dégonfle, passant de $175 à $75, à moins que le prix de l'édition de 1987 était enflé?

Je reviens sur la qualité des timbres-poste illustrés, regardez le numéro 12 de l'Ile du Prince Edouard, il est déchiré sur un côté et il est inconcevable que l'éditeur ne puisse trouver une meilleure copie pour un timbre qui cote à $14.00! Mais après tout qui est ce qui regarde les timbres des provinces dans ce catalogue?

Observez les couleurs affreuses des premières émissions du Nouveau-Brunswick, elles sont pires qu'en 1987! On a même omis de traduire la variété #8i du Nouveau-Brunswick, la fameuse boucle d'oreille allongée. On ne parle même pas des variétés de dentelure dans la série des cents de cette province. Pour un catalogue dit spécialisé...

La confusion la plus totale existe pour les timbres-poste de Terre-Neuve en ce qui concerne les couleurs, à en juger certaines teintes les timbres illustrés seraient des faux! Voilà qui n'encourage pas la collection de timbres des provinces canadiennes.

Je crois qu'un catalogue spécialisé devrait être plus et je m'attendais à une meilleure qualité de la part de Scott. Je me demande si leur catalogue des timbres des Etats-Unis d'Amérique est aussi pire? Les fautes de français sont très nombreuses et certaines traductions sont très boiteuses.

Il est très surprenant que certains annonceurs n'aient même pas eu le décence de faire traduire leur publicité en français: à mon avis l'éditeur n'aurait pas dû accepter ces annonces, sans parler de certaines annonces très mal traduites. Personnellement je n'encouragerai pas ceux qui ne sont pas capables de me respecter!

Dans le fond, merci à tous les deux ans, j'épargne $7.95 qui sont bien mieux investis ailleurs.

CANADIAN REVENUES VOLUME 2, (The federal inspection, unemployment insurance and the "American duty stamps"); 1899, by Edward Zaluski; 17.6 x 21.6 cms., (7" x 8 1/4"), 138 pages plus 11 pages of index, terminology, suffixes and the CARIS identification system, 36 pages of illustrations in black and white, card covers, extra strength spiral wire binding, ISBN 0-921336-02-0, printed by Right Road Printing Limited, Nepean, Ont. Available from the author Edward Zaluski, 2777 Springland Dr., Ottawa, Ont., K1V 9X2 at $19 to a Canadian address, $20.15 ($17 US) to an American address. All prices include postage.

This volume, like volume 1, previously released and still available from the author, is a reference manual or handbook. It is not a price list. It is also the second volume of a planned seven volume series. The history of the revenue stamps, the reason they were issued, their usage etc. are described. The handbook uses the CARIS numbering system. (CARIS stands for Canadian Revenue Identification System).

All the elegant series of Canadian Inspection revenue stamps for weights and measures, gas inspection, electricity and gas inspection and electric light inspection are thoroughly covered. The Unemployment Insurance stamps take up the mid-section of the handbook and descriptions of the parliamentary legislation to provide for insurance against unemployment, the Commission, the payments and benefits provided, the regulations governing their use etc. are all detailed. Finally the "American" Duty stamps resulting from the British Stamp Act of 1765 are illustrated in the last section and well-explained in considerable detail.

The background information as to how the British North America colonists were required to purchase their paper needs from officially-appointed local distributors provides factual information. The English-made paper upon which tax stamps had been applied were so unpopular in the 13 American colonies that the short-lived Stamp Act was cancelled on May 1, 1766.

This volume will prove to be of great interest to the Canadian revenue collector, anyone interested in revenues and should be in every philatelic literature collector's library.

MEMBERSHIP MANAGER — — —

Effective immediately, any member in good standing with the Society can earn a year's free regular membership by recommending, and having accepted by the Society, five or more new members during a single calendar year.

Members can obtain membership applications from either your local chapter representative or by writing to the RPSC National Office in Ottawa.

Upon completion of the application, just return it along with the correct dues to the address noted on the application form.

The office in Ottawa will maintain a record of the number of accepted applications sponsored by you and, at the end of the year, will determine which of our members are entitled to a year's free membership.

For the Royal to remain a strong and vibrant Society we need new members. Please help your executive in this endeavor.

Clifford R. Guile
Membership Manager

SLIDE PROGRAMS — — —

Two new slide programs have been added to the collection of the Royal Canadian Philatelic Society. Slide programs can be a valuable and interesting part of a chapter meeting.

The new programs are:

No. 80 — Canada, the 1972-1978 definitive issue, by Douglas Irwin, 36 slides, English.

No. 83 — Canada, the 1977-1982 definitive issue, by Douglas Irwin, 35 slides, English.

For information on how to obtain loan of these programs and others, contact:

Manager, Chapter Medals and Slide

SALES DEPARTMENT — — —

First, I wish to thank everyone who heeded my impassioned plea for Canada used, mint, back-of-book, precancels, perfins, revenues, officials, covers and cards. The response was great but guess what — I need to ask for more of the same thing all over again as well as Great Britain, Australia and New Zealand, Newfoundland, Eastern and Western Europe, U.S.A. and British Commonwealth and Colonies. I am overstocked with Spain and Portugal.

We have so many circuits to send out that the books I have in can hardly keep up with the demand.

If you need clear plastic mounts for mint, never hinged stamps, please contact the Sales Department. For information on how to take part in Sales Department, write or phone:

Manager, RPSC Sales Department
