The Board of Directors

Reviewing the history of our Society, there unfolds a long, interesting story, with quite a few ups and downs over the years. Now, during one short period of seventeen months, we seem to have gone through another complete cycle—up, down, and up again! However, the last bit is the important one: CPS is "up" again.

Most of last year was spent in reorganizing and readjusting, and the Canadian Philatelic Society can hold its head high at CAPEX, Canada's greatest philatelic event. Members can be proud their society as a whole, and certain individual members particularly, had a large share in the organizing of the great exhibition.

We can look forward to the coming year with confidence. Our new Board of Directors is a "working team" which includes seven of those who have worked hardest through the past difficult year, and others who have proven their mettle in previous service with the Society. There are a few problems which, I am sure, the annual meeting will settle to everyone's satisfaction. Then, on with the new year's business — it should be one of the Society's best.

GEORGE S. WEGG,
2nd Vice-President

EARLY PHILATELIC CANADIANA

By R. J. DUNCAN

Who was the first stamp collector in Canada? That may never be known. We have, however, considerable information about our early philatelic journals, catalogues and postage stamp dealers. Our first Canadian Philatelic Journal, "The Stamp Collector's Record", was published in Montreal in February 1864, by S. Allan Taylor, well known as a publisher. Articles about him have been written by R. A. Jamieson and others in various philatelic journals in Canada and in the United States.

In June, 1865, a revival to The Stamp Collector's Record appeared in St. John, New Brunswick. This was The Stamp Collector's Monthly Gazette, edited by George Stewart, Jr., who was noted for his attacks on dishonest dealing and dealers. Through twenty-four issues, Stewart slashed away at unfair practices and attacked S. Allan Taylor for his article on the Connell Stamp of New Brunswick, which had appeared in the May 1865 issue of Taylor's paper.

The December issue of The Stamp Collector's Monthly Gazette, the nineteenth number, carried a story of the money order system of the New Brunswick Post Office Department, introduced in November 1863. Editor Stewart published interesting material and in the last issue he placed his paper third among all the philatelic journals of the time.

The Stamp Argus appearing in St. John, New Brunswick in 1865 lasted for five issues and was followed for 21 issues by The Postman's Knock, in the next year from the same town. The last of the St. John philatelic journals, The Stamp Collector's Chronicle, appeared in two series of three numbers each from 1872 until 1873. In this publication appeared a story of The Bancroft Local and a lengthy article on the stamps and coins of Prince Edward Island. A later issue described in one story the three-penny bisected stamp of New Brunswick. This stamp was surcharged "1½" in brick-red colour to cover drop-letter rate in Fredericton. In the same issue, the death notice of the Hon. Chas. Connell was announced. Connell had passed away June 28, 1873 at his home in Woodstock, New Brunswick, according to the notice.

About this time, stamp journals appeared in Quebec City and Summerside, Prince Edward Island. One paper named The Canadian Philatelist, was published in January, 1873 in Quebec, while The Island Hero, which ran two issues, appeared in Summerside and was edited by a real stamp collector, Mr. Graves.

Among the early Canadian stamp dealers, many were located in the maritime provinces and in Montreal. Craig and Robertson, both of St. John, New Brunswick, even published their own catalogues. The Craig & Melvin price list of postage stamps for sale had four pages, and the prices were filled in by hand . . . a contrast to our fancy lists printed today.

In the early 1880's, philatelic leadership in Canada passed from St. John to Halifax, where such men as Donald A. King, Henry Heckler and others were very active in Canadian philately. A new era in philatelic history arrived, and another article in the future will tell about the people and their work.

EDITOR'S NOTE:—The author of this article, Mr. R. J. Duncan, is a well known Canadian, active in philatelic work. He is a member of the Royal Philatelic Society, London, and Librarian of the BNAPS.

HOW TO START A STAMP CLUB

By JIM WEBB

As he adapted it from a CBC Stamp Club talk.

Any group of persons can start a stamp club, providing they have enough interest to do so. Interest is the very first requirement. When three or four stamp collectors decide to form a club, a meeting should be arranged so that ideas can be discussed and used to start the organization.

The next consideration is a meeting place. This may be a hall, church, school or even the homes of members. If a small club is contemplated, the meetings in members' homes are by far the best since a saving on rent is made. After a meeting place is obtained, then the members decide when the meetings should be held. Many stamp club members in Canada prefer to hold meetings twice a month; while others have weekly or monthly meetings.

When a meeting place and the dates for meetings have been decided, the next requirement is a group of members. Getting members is the duty of each person in the club, and the best way to get other people interested is to talk about the club as often as possible. If a large club is contemplated, the executive staff is advised to advertise in local newspapers and in the philatelic papers which carry club news at no charge. Stamp dealers in the communities are usually pleased to exhibit club notices in their stores or offices. While a member is making a request to have a card displayed he might ask the dealer to join the club and to bring some stock with him to the meetings. A stamp club must have stamps and with a dealer present he is likely to keep members interested.

The officers required to run the club may be kept to a minimum at the beginning and increased as the need arises. The three important officers are: president, secretary and the treasurer. To these executive may be added a vice-president, membership secretary, assistant treasurer, librarian, auctioneer as well as an auction committee and an entertainment committee. All the officers of a club constitute the executive which is advised to meet once a month to discuss club business and to plan future programs.

The officers have to decide how much the membership dues will be. To arrive at the amount of the dues, the executive should estimate all the club expenses such as rent, advertising, printing and other items which are included in the club plans. If this estimated sum of money is divided by the expected total number, the individual dues may be calculated. Persons forming a new stamp club are warned against over optimism. Besides the dues, extra revenue for a reserve may be built up from a raffle and an auction sale at each meeting. The commissions charged on sales can be added to the reserve fund. The executives are seriously advisd to make a charge for membership even if the club has no expenses because people do not have the same interest in something free as they do when they have to pay for their service or their purchase or in this case, their membership dues.

In writing this brief article it is the author's hope that it will help many persons to start stamp clubs. He will be pleased to hear from anyone interested in this project once a club has been started. Interest is most important. If every member is interested in seeing his or her club become a success, then that club MUST be successful. Good luck is extended to everyone.
